ASSESSMENT
TASK 1

INSTRUCTIONS TO STUDENTS

SUBJECT: CONTACT CENTRE OPERATIONS LEVEL 3

SUBJECT CODE: 10041033

DATE OF IMPLEMENTATION: 01 JANUARY 2023

This document consists of 5 pages.

This is a practical application task that tests your ability to apply the knowledge and skills acquired in the vocational subject. The work required from you is an important and compulsory component of your studies.

1 General information

- 1.1 Study the task carefully.
- 1.2 Note the mark and time allocations per subtask and for the task as a whole.
- 1.3 Note the assessment date(s).
- 1.4 Study the resources required carefully.
- 1.5 Use the assessment tool as guidance on how your work will be marked.
- 1.6 You are required to provide proof that you submitted work done by yourself.
- 1.7 Research should not be a copy and paste exercise
- 1.8 Information sources should be correctly referenced.

2 Description of task

You will be asked to select ONE cell phone product or any other suitable product of your choice in the market and collect a picture or pamphlet of the selected product. You may use the Internet to search your selected product and its information.

You must compile a short background (product knowledge fact sheet) about the product features, benefits, price offered in that price range, how customer can pay, instruction booklet and after-sales service. You will use this information to compile FIVE questions that will appear in the script for the call to the prospective customer. You have to sell this product to the customer.

You will write a script using the SIX steps in the sales process (introduction and product questions, probing questions, handling objection questions, payment, delivery and closing of sale request). Set up FIVE questions to ask the prospective customer and provide the questions you (the agent) will ask and the answers that the customer will give) in the script. You must also create a reference number for the order.

Once the script is written, you will role-play the sales conversation with one of the students in the class. A contact centre will be simulated in the classroom or the simulation room.

3 Instructions for the task

3.1 Subtask 1: Research a product (Total: 15 marks; Time: 50 minutes supervised)

You must choose a specific cell phone or any other suitable product in the market. You can use the internet, print the evidence, and submit it with the practical.

- Collect the information and do the research in your own time. The information must cover the:
 - Product features
 - Benefits
 - Guarantee
 - Price offered in that price range
 - Payment methods
 - After-sales service
- You must also obtain a pamphlet or photo of the product.

You will need this information to compile the product knowledge fact sheet and develop FIVE suitable questions.

Note: Without the above information, you will not be able to do your assessment in the allocated time.

- Compile a product knowledge fact sheet under the supervision of the lecturer and type the information in a MS Word format on a computer. You will use this information to compile your script for the outbound call.
- Attach the pamphlet or picture of the product to your fact sheet for marks.

3.2 Subtask 2: Write the script (Total: 16 marks; Time: 85 minutes)

Subtask 2.1: Compile the questions

Under supervision:

- Compile FIVE suitable questions encouraging customers to buy the product, as well as the answers to use in your script. The purpose of these questions are to establish the need of the customer for the product. The agent can also create a sales opportunity with the questions and find out what the objections are.
- These questions must cover:
 - Product knowledge: product features, benefits and guarantee
 - Payments; price and payment methods
 - Delivery: when and where
 - After-sales service
- Type the information in MS Word format on a computer.

Subtask 2.2: Write the script

- Use the FIVE questions and answers to type your outbound call script according to the six steps of the sales process.
- The main sales content of the script must include:
 - Product knowledge
 - Payments
 - Delivery: when and where
 - After sales service
 - A reference number
 - Closing the call

3.3 Subtask 3: Perform a role-play

Under supervision:

- Do a telephone conversation role-play with another student (customer).
- Record customer information during the call so that you will be able to send the phone order to the customer's address. The lecturer will provide the customer information recording document before you start with this subtask.

INSTRUCTIONS TO STUDENTS

SUBJECT: CONTACT CENTRE OPERATIONS LEVEL 3

SUBJECT CODE: 10041033

DATE OF IMPLEMENTATION: 01 JANUARY 2023

This document consists of 5 pages.

This is a practical application task that tests your ability to apply the knowledge and skills acquired in the vocational subject. The work required from you is an important and compulsory component of your studies.

1 General information

- 1.1 Study the task carefully.
- 1.2 Note the mark and time allocations per subtask and for the task as a whole.
- 1.3 Note the assessment date(s).
- 1.4 Study the resources required carefully.
- 1.5 Use the assessment tool as guidance on how your work will be marked.
- 1.6 You are required to provide proof that you submitted work done by yourself.
- 1.7 Research should not be a copy and paste exercise
- 1.8 Information sources should be correctly referenced.

2 Description of task

The assessment includes writing a script for an emergency situation, handling the telephone conversation, and documenting after-call work (wrap time) information from the customers in the emergency situation.

You must select ANY ONE of the following emergency incidents, e.g., car accident, taxi accident, bus accident, heart attack, asthma attack, person with a stroke, a person who took poison or a boat accident.

You must collect a photo or a report from a journalist on an emergency incident OR collect a photo from a newspaper or search the internet for a suitable emergency incident to obtain enough information for an emergency call.

You must compile a short background 'emergency fact sheet' of the emergency incident you choose. You will then use the fact sheet to compile SIX questions with suitable answers to be used in your script when you retrieve a call from the emergency scene.

Once the script is written, you will have to role-play the conversation with the person (one of your classmates) at the emergency scene. The lecturer will create a simulated environment in the classroom or in the simulation room.

Immediately after the retrieved role-play call is completed, you must complete the 'emergency information recording document'. The time after the call is also called the wrap time or after-call work.

3 Instructions for the task

3.1 Subtask 1: Research an emergency incident

(Total: 16 marks; Time: 50 minutes supervised)

- In your OWN TIME, collect a photo or a report from a journalist on the reporting of an emergency incident OR collect a photo from a newspaper or search the internet for a suitable emergency incident to create enough information for an emergency call. (This must be printed and added to your task for evidence and marks.)
- The information must cover the:
 - Type of incident
 - Place where the incident was happening or has taken place.
 - Telephone number and caller's name and surname.
 - How many people are involved?
 - How seriously injured are the people involved?

- What type of assistance should be sent out?
- Brief description of accident.
- Gender, age if available, of victims.
- Time and date of accident.

Under supervision:

- Complete the emergency fact sheet of the emergency incident based on this information. Type the information in MS Word format.
- You must use this information to compile your script for the inbound call, in subtask 2.

3.2 Subtask 2: Write the script (Total: 17 marks; Time 85 minutes)

Subtask 2.1: Compile the questions

Under supervision:

- Compile SIX questions with suitable answers using the emergency fact sheet information and type the information in MS Word format.

Subtask 2.2: Write the script

- Use the questions and answers to write your script for retrieving a call from the emergency scene. The script must cover:
 - Opening call line
 - Main emergency content
 - Confirm emergency services to person on the scene
 - Address, as found on the GPS screen, must be confirmed
 - Closing the call

3.3 Subtask 3: Perform a role-play (Total: 17 marks; Time 15 minutes)

- As an agent working in an emergency centre you receive a call from a person who has just been in an accident. Do a role-play for the emergency call with one of the students in the class once the script is written.
- Complete the emergency information recording document in the wrap time (after-call work) after you ended the call.

INSTRUCTIONS TO STUDENTS

SUBJECT: CONTACT CENTRE OPERATIONS LEVEL 3

SUBJECT CODE: 10041033

DATE OF IMPLEMENTATION: 01 JANUARY 2023

This document consists of 6 pages.

This is a practical application task that tests your ability to apply the knowledge and skills acquired in the vocational subject. The work required from you is an important and compulsory component of your studies.

1 General information

- 1.1 Study the task carefully.
- 1.2 Note the mark and time allocations per subtask and for the task as a whole.
- 1.3 Note the assessment date(s).
- 1.4 Study the resources required carefully.

- 1.6 You are required to provide proof that you submitted work done by yourself.
- 1.7 Research should not be a copy and paste exercise
- 1.8 Information sources should be correctly referenced.

2 Description of task

For subtask 1, you must make a call to a student/customer who wants to apply for a loan or submit personal information to an employment agency for a temporary or permanent job. You must design a loan or employment application form on which you must capture personal information for the loan or employment application. You must then capture and verify the information during an outbound telephone call.

For subtask 2, you must design or collect a recording document of a complaint outcome at an emergency centre, by using the internet or visiting an emergency centre. Using this information, you must develop a script for a role-play follow-up call to the complainant to assist and put the person at ease.

3 Instructions for the task

5.3.1 Subtask 1: Application for a loan or employment

You must make a choice between doing an out-bound call to a student/customer who wants to apply for a loan OR submit personal information to an employment agency for temporary or permanent employment.

Subtask 1.1: Design an application form (Total: 12 marks; Time: 60 minutes supervised)

In your OWN TIME, do research on the type of documents used for a loan application OR employment application and obtain an example of such a form, depending on the choice you make.

Under supervision:

- Design an application form on which you can input 12 bits/items of the most important personal information needed to apply for a student/customer loan OR employment.
Note: Use suitable bits/items of information for each document and application you want to do a script for and then role-play. Use your own discretion on what is required on the form.

Subtask 1.2: Write the script (Total: 6 marks; Time: 60 minutes)

- Write the script for the outbound call to the customer to apply for:
 - a loan OR
 - employment.

Subtask 1.3: Role-play the conversation (Total: 5 marks; Time: 10 minutes per student)

- Role-play the conversation with the prospective student or customer (classmate) who wants to apply for the loan OR employment.
- Complete the relevant application form with the student/customer during the conversation and sign it off afterwards.

5.3.2 Subtask 2: Emergency follow-up

You must conduct a follow-up call to the caller/patient from the incident/accident in PAT 2, who has previously complained about the emergency centre's assistance after the incident/accident occurred, such as late arrival of the ambulance, staff not helpful or knowledgeable, reckless driving and late arrival at the hospital.

Subtask 2.1: Design a complaint form (Total: 6 marks; Time: 60 minutes)

- In your own time, collect an example of the document used to record a complaint at an emergency centre by using the internet or visiting an emergency centre.
- Under supervision, use the example to design your own complaint document.

Subtask 2.2: Write the script (Total: 16 marks; Time: 60 minutes)

Under supervision:

- Write/type a script for a follow-up call on ONE of the complaints mentioned, to assist and put the caller/patient at ease. The script must consist of FOUR questions and answers to establish that the response to the emergency was done in an accurate and professional manner.

Subtask 2.3: Perform a role-play (Total: 9 marks; Time: 10 minutes per student)

- Role-play the conversation with one of your classmates in a simulated environment.
- Capture all information in your designed document during the conversation and sign it off afterwards.
